GABEL ELECTRIC PLUMBING & HVAC LTD

Quality, Service, Trust

Since its humble beginnings in 1986, Gabel's has grown from a one-man operation into a leading name in electrical, plumbing, and HVAC services. Founded by Jack Gabel in Listowel, Ontario, the company was built on a foundation of quality, service, and trust—principles that continue to guide its operations today.

In its early days, Gabel's commitment to these core values earned it a reputation for excellence in every project, whether residential, commercial, agricultural, or industrial. Over the years, the company expanded its reach, maintaining the high standards and dependable service that Jack Gabel instilled.

Today, under the leadership of Tim Buchanan, Gabel's remains dedicated to upholding the traditions that have defined its success. Tim's commitment to quality service and strong relationships with contractors and customers ensures that Gabel's continues to thrive as a trusted partner in the community. The company's growth reflects its focus on creating a supportive work environment where employees can excel and deliver exceptional results.

Gabel's success is not just measured in its expansive service area but also in the enduring trust it has built with its clients. Every job, from complex installations to routine maintenance, is approached with the same dedication to quality that Jack Gabel first envisioned. As Gabel's moves forward, it remains a beacon of reliability and excellence in the trades, carrying forward a legacy of trust and outstanding service.
